Overview
Since you already practice other phases of dentistry, why not implants? Over 2 days of lecture presentations and simulation exercises, Drs. Rick Ferguson and John Barksdale will help you acquire the skills and training you need to add implant surgery and restoration to your everyday office procedures. Their extensive implantology training, many years of practice experience in placing and restoring implants, and a love for teaching CE courses to other dentists - all combine to make their presentations and workshops come alive.

Day 1 of the course will focus on lecture presentations that cover:
- Introduction to Oral Implantology
- Diagnosis and Treatment Planning
- Soft Tissue Considerations
- Incision Design
- Implant Placement
- Surgical Closure
- When and How to Uncover Implants

The balance of Day 1 will focus on hands-on, simulation workshops covering:
- Implant Positioning
- Guide Construction
- Surgical Implant Placement on Models

Day 2 of the course will focus on lecture presentations covering:
- Implant Prosthetic Treatment Planning
- Parts and Pieces: Clearing Up the Confusion
- Abutment and Material Selection
- Implant Retained Overdentures
- Impressioning Techniques
- Temporization
- How to Avoid Complications
- Which Cases to Accept & Which Cases to Refer

The balance of Day 2 will focus on two hands-on, simulation workshops:
- Implant Impressioning
- Implant Overdenture Workshop

Learning Objectives
After completing this course, you should know:
- What is required to add implant surgery and restoration to your practice
- Which cases to accept and which cases to refer because you are probably more confident and capable than you previously believed possible
- Step-by-step surgical and restorative training and how it can be put to use in your practice right away
- Techniques presented in this course that can increase your practice income quickly and substantially
- The skills that can recession-proof your practice
